STEWARDS DISQUALIFY DELHI

KEENE'S GREAT HORSE LOSES A RACE ON A FOUL.

Witch Hazel, the Outsider, Gets the Purse at Belmont Park-P. J. Dwyer's Jennie McCabe Takes Van Ness Stakes at Long Odds-Four Favorites Beaten.

The sensation at Belmont Park yesterday was the disqualification of James R. Reene's famous Delhi after he had won the third race, seven furlongs, main track. It was Delhi's first appearance in a race this year and his well known prowess resulted in the with-drawal of eight of the original field, leaving John E. Madden's Hot Shot and Frank Re-gan's Witch Hazel to meet him. The Keene horse was a prohibitive favorite at 1 to 7, with Hot Shot heavily played for the place at 2 to 5, while the small speculators took a chance with Witch Hazel at liberal oids. Dell i. with Shaw up, left the post flying and under wraps he breezed along in front of the others until straightened out for home. Then he began to tire, and when Shaw drew his whip to stall off Witch Hazer's rush Delhi plainly swerved over and interfered with the Horoscope filly Shaw continued to ride hard and at the end Delhi had an advantage of half a length, with Witch Hazel four lengths before Hot Shot. Powers, who rode Witch Hazel, lost no time in going before the stewards, S. S. Howland, Harry Payne Whitney and H. B Duryea, with a protest of foul againt Delhi, the crowd around the judges' stand warmly applauding the midget for his nerve. The stewards quickly called Shaw up, and the latter admitted that belhi had swerved and had also bumped the contender. There was a short contab which resulted in the ruling out of Deshi, the race going to Witch Hazel, a Keene castoff, by the way, with Hot Shot second. The decision caused some surprise, inasmuch as there has been fouling in nearly all the races at this track with no action on the part of the stewards, and soon there was a rumor that Mr. keene had declared that, barring Sysonby, who will go in the Withers Stakes to-morrow, he would not start another horse at belimont bark. But when Mr. keene was asked about the matter later he said that he had no fault to find with the decision and that his horses would fill all of their engagements. Duryea, with a protest of foul againt Delhi that his horses would fill all of their engagoments.

The racing was conducted again under the most favorable weather and track conditions, with another crowd of 12,000 on hand, but it was the same oldstory as to the favorites. Our of them once more going down to defeat. The first two races were won by Sydney Paget's horses. Zeala and Jacobite, both hot favorites, who breezed home with the money. Veribest, 5 to 1, second choice, led all the way in the fifth race for two-year-olds, five furlongs, but was hard driven to win by a small margin from Newton Bennington's Superior Boy, backed down to sevens. The last race, at a mile, went to Wizard, a 10 to 1 shot, who had three lengths over Jane Holly, 6 to 2, the time being 1:41 2-5. The summaries:

READY FOR OCEAN RACE. Landsmen Looking Over the Boats That Will Sall for Emperor's Cup.

As the time for the start of the ocean yacht race draws near the interest in the big event is growing and hundreds of enthusiasts are siting the docks where the boats are revisiting the docks where the boats are re-ceiving their final grooming. Each model is carefully examined by the visitors, freely commended or criticized, and the lofty spars and rigging of the racers are carefully gone over. By to-day or to-morrow at the latest all the eleven boats will be in the water again and, except for their stores, ready for the starting signal.

The Apache, Edmund Randelph's barkentine rigged boat; the Utowans, Allison V. Armour's three masted schooner; the Fleur Armour's three masted schooner; the Fleur de Lys, the smallest schooner in the fleet, owned by Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, and the Hamburg, the German schooner, have all been on the dock and cleaned and are practically ready.

The Apache went on Morse's dock and was launched on Monday. Her wheel was re-moved and the boat is now anchored off the New York Yacht Club station at the foot of East Twenty-third street looking very trim and neat. Her tall spars tower away up in the air, and those who have seen the way Capt. J. H. McDonald has got this boat are confident that she will give a good account of herself in the race.

Mr. Randolph will have with him during the contest Royal Phelps Carroll, R. Burnside Potter, W. Gordon Fellowes, Joseph Harriman, Ralph N. Ellis, Stuyvesant LeRoy and Dr. Watson B. Morris.

Allison V. Armour's Utowana was cleaned Allison V. Armour's Utowans was cleaned at Tietien & Lang's yard at Hoboken. Her propeller was removed and shipped across the Atlantic on the steamship Oceanic. The Utowans is in charge of Capt. J. H. Crav fo 1. She is to take part in the race for the Hengo land cup after reaching England and in other events if possible. This boat will have a few trial spins under sail, and on Saturday will finish taking on stores. On Monday she will go down to the Horseshoe and wait for the start on Tuesday afternoon.
Capt. Peters has got the Hamburg look ing well and that boat is anchored off Staple-ton. She was out sailing on the lower bay yesterday getting her rigging and sails in good shape. This boat by many good judges is thought to be one of the most dangerous in the race. Capt. Barr hold her in wholesome respect and he knows what he is talking about because he raced the Ingomar against the Hamburg in contests last season. Capt. Barr says that the Hamburg is very fast when reaching and could beat the Ingomar by a minute in a mile. It is probable that the winds during the race on the ocean will come mostly from the southwest and this will favor the Hamburg very much. yesterday getting her rigging and sails in west and this will favor the Hamburg very much.

The Fleur de Lys has been out sailing, and Capt. Bohlin early in the week decided that the yacht needed more ballast. This was put in. Capt. Bohlin has great faith in this craft and will drive her for all she is worth from start to finish.

The Vaihalla, the British ship, and the yawl Ailsa are still hauled out at Tietjen & Lang's yard at Hoboken and the ship has attracted many visitors across the ferry. She is a beautiful boat, big and powerful and spreads an immense area of canvas. Should the winds be strong and the weather rough this boat will make a good record. She has logged is knots under favorable conditions, but to do this the winds must come aft and heavy. She will carry all canvas when most of the other, boats have shortened sail, and will fairly delight in weather that will make the landsman think longingly of home. The Valhalla will be put in the water to-day and probably be towed to an anchorage off Stapleton.

Henry S. Redmond's yawl Ailsa, in charge

Henry S. Redmond's yawl Allsa, in charge of Capt. Lem Miller, will also be launched to-day. The boat was never in better shape than she is now, and those interested in her think that before the race is over she will surprise many. rprise many. At the Morse Iron Works the Sunbeam and

At the Morse Iron Works the Sunbeam and the Atlantic are hauled out. These are the oldest and youngest boats in the fleet of racers, and the difference between the two is very marked. The Sunbeam is a topsail, schooner rigged boat, while the Atlantic is a three masted schooner of the slick racing type. These boats have been cleaned and painted and will be launched to-day.

Commodore George Lauder, Jr.'s schooner Endymion is at Tebo's, and Capt. Loesch has the holder of the ocean record in the finest possible shape. He smiles when asked what the Endymion will do and thinks she will easily repeat the great performance she made across the Western ocean two years ago, and with good luck will do better.

Robert E. Tod's schooner Thistle is at McDaniel's yard at West Brighton. Staten Island. Commodore Tod is responsible for the leaned ocean racing when flag officer of the Atlantic Yacht Club and in the long distance contests which the Thistle took part in then she showed up well. The Commodore is a plucky yachtaman, and he will navigate his own yacht across the ocean, and his many friends wish him lots of good luck. On the Thistle will be Dr. Paul Outerbridge. Dr. James Ayer and Poultney Bigelow. The Thistle will go off Dr. Paul Outerbridge. Dr. James Ayer and Poultney Bigelow. The Thistle will go off the dock to-day and will then have a short salling trial. To-morrow and Monday she will take on stores and then go down to the Horseshoe.

Edward R. Coleman's schooner Hildegarde is being prepared at New London. She will be towed to Sandy Hook to-morrow. This yacht is another dangerous one and has a good record for fast sailing.

Three of the Iron Steamboats will be out at the start. The New York Yacht Club has chartered the Cygnus, which will leave the foot of West Twenty-third street at 11 o'clock. The Atlantic Yacht Club, with the Crescent Athletic Club and Indian Harbor Yacht Club, will have the Sirius. This boat will leave Pier I, at the Battery, at 11 o'clock and stop at Bay Kidge and Sea Gate. The Cepheus will leave West Twenty-second street at 10:45 and the Battery at 11. The Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club has chartered the tug Mutual for its members. Edward R. Coleman's schooner Hildegards

GOLF HANDICAPS OUT. Increase in the Piayers Listed Under New System. Walter J. Travis is plus 1 on the official handicaps of the Metropolitan Golf Association for 1905, issued yesterday by the committee, Leighton Calkins, F. W. Menzies and Fred-erick J. Phillips. There are 1,560 players handicapped, against 1,204 last spring, 1,100 in 1903 and about 1,000 in 1902. After allowing for the normal increase in the number of players, there are probably 200 players who find a place this year owing to the new system of handicapping, which takes into consideration the greater chance to improve which some players have over others. In other some players have over others. In other words, some who were rated at 21 or 22 on par are this year rated at 17, and just make the list. METS STILL WAITING FOR A FAVORABLE SHIFT.

Say That the Track Owners Are Under Obligations to Them and That They Are Entitled to Something-Wheeleck and Cavanagh Exchange Compliments.

The situation in the betting ring at Belmont Park yesterday remained practically the same as on Wednesday. When the members of the bookmakers' syndicate arrived at the track they had drawn for a new allotment of seats in the front line, but they soon discovered that John G. Cavanagh did not respect the drawing, as he again placed five nonmembers in the van, as on the two previous days, thus continuing what is now an open ring. The leaders of the syndicate, which was represented in the ring by only seventytwo books, quickly hunted up Cavanagh and Pinkerton. Wheelock and Heney were the spokesmen for the bookmakers, and they were so warm under the collar that they soon became personal in their remarks.

"Why don't you get up on a stool and make a speech to the newspaper reporters?" cried Wheelock, addressing his remarks to Cavanagh.

"I am fully capable of doing that, if so required," replied the manager of the ring, coolly. "But I wish to say that out of respect for the cause of racing I prefer to remain silent. In fact, I do not care to discuss the situation with you at all." As Cavanagh turned away, Wheelook and

As Cavanagh turned away, Wheelook and Heney continued to argue and gesticulate wildly with Pinkerton, but they evidently got no satisfaction, for they were soon quietly conferring with their constituents in various parts of the ring. As a matter of fact, the Mets believe that in time they will be able to make some new arrangement with the track owners. They were predicting yesterday that there would soon be a shift in their favor and that the track managers would be compelled to recognize them for what they had done for the turf. The Mets state, through several representatives, that they have paid $80,000 out of their own pockets to defray the entire egpenses of the suits brought against the tracks by De Lacy and the poolroom men, and that they have also made up the deficit incurred by a certain meeting of the Westchester Racing Association at Morris Park. They aver that they have lived up to the rules of the Jockey Club in every way and that they are being treated ciation at Morris Park. They aver that they have lived up to the rules of the Jockey Club in every way and that they are being treated at present with scant couriesy. The track owners were resting on their oars yesterday, still waiting for the Mets to make the first hostile move. The track owners, according to good authority, have no idea at present of giving in, although the syndicate's leaders think that in the course of time they will receive certain concessions, for which reason they say they have steadfastly refrained from calling a general meeting of the Mets to take action of a drastic nature.

It was said at the track yesterday that it would not be long before James O'Leary, the big Chicago bookmaker, who has been blackballed by the Mets, would begin operations in the local ring in the front line. In fact, it was rumored that O'Leary had already applied for accommodations, with the desire of instituting a fight with the Mets for public patronage. It was also stated that Tyler, the Humming Bird, another outlaw, had been invited to take a seat in the charmed circle, but that be had refused to accept until he could receive assurance that the allotment would be permanent.

A man identified with the Mets in a business way told The Sun's representative surance that the allotment would be permanent.

A man identified with the Mets in a business way told The Sun's representative yesterday that there was not enough business in the ring to warrant so many big books; that nearly $5,000,000 is lost on the deadliners and the small fry, together with a majority of the big operators, each year, and that the present wrangle is an injustice to the ring. But this statement was offset with another to the effect that the five nonmembers of the Mets who are now operating in the front line have all been making big money since they were allowed to graduate from the rear guard.

It may be said, further, that if the syndicate does not get a concession of some kind several of the ringleaders will advocate a fight to a finish in the courts, but whether they will be backed up in such a struggle by their business partners is a question that cannot be deminitely answered. Sporting men who are not mixed up in the fight say that the Mets are beaten and that they are simply bluffing as a last resort.

George Wheelock and Tom Costigan were among the big bettors who played Jennie McCabe to win the Van Ness Stakes. They got their money on $100 at a clip at odds averaging 15 to 1. The ring won big money on the result of this race, as E. R. Thomas wagered $10,000 through his agents on Quadrille, who was also backed by the crowd at large. Czaraphine, Blucher and Jetsam also burned up many bankrolls. The Van Ness Stakes was first run in 1898, the previous winners being Sty Fox. Roysterer, Nature, Col. Padden, Gay Boy, Minotaur and Buckley. Jennie McCabe is a chestuat filly by Handspring—Mon Droit, hence a full sister to Major Daingerfield, also owned by P. J. Dwyer.

Wheelock also bet heavily on Zeala and Jacobite, the winners of the first two races.

Wheelock also bet heavily on Zeala and Jacobite, the winners of the first two races. Charley McCarthy played them, too, and proceeded to open a bottle of wine for each bookmaker from whom he took money. Costigan stood to win a small fortune on Cottage Maid in the last race, while Lichtenstein an Wheelock lost on Whorler.

last race yesterday, when Waswift started in his colors. Then he went up and down the line offering the books all kinds of money and getting down about $10,000 before the horses were off. There was a supposed killing framed up with Rostand in this event, the old horse being backed down from 20 to 1 to eights. Wizard was well backed by the stable connections, the ring playing out all of $20,000 on his success. Wizard, like Witch Hazel, is a Keene castoff, both being sired by Horoscope.

After winning the fifth race Veribest, who was entered to be sold for $1,400, was bid up to $3,100 and bought by E. Wooden, the trainer of the Leland Stable. The run-up netted $550 for Newton Bennington, who ran second with Superior Boy and came within an ace of burning up the ring, as the Juvenul colt had been played from 12 to 1 down to sevens. Andrew Miller's Cambridge and David Gideon's Magic Power were also backed down in this race, while E. E. Smathers's Panic was widely backed in the place books. After yesterday's distressing performance, Hot Shot's race in the Withers Stakes to-morrow will be watched with interest.

J. Grant Lymnu, who is doing some solid betting just now, dropped a bundle on the Keene entry in the second race. Kernilworth and Uncas were both tipped as sure things it the opening event.

There is a serious breach between two well known turfmen which may result in legal proceedings. One of them was served with papers in some sort of a suit yesterday and was advised by friends to bring a counter suit for slander.

New York shut out St. Louis, Boston id the same to Chicago, Cincinnati took a. ten inning game from Brooklyn, and Pittsburg won an eleven inning game from Philadelphia. The Reds have won three straight from the Brooklyns, and yesterday's was the second one of the series to go beyond nine innings. The victory sent the Cincinnatis into the first division. Bill Dahlen's sterling fielding and the sur-passing knack the New York Nationals have of rallying for runs in a pinch were prominent in the enampions' victory over St. Louis at in the champions' victory over St. Louis at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Cardinals were shut out. Mathewson had all the better of them. He had control of the sit atton at every stage when it came to a question of hits by the visitors. They had men on bases often, and Mathewson could not afford to relax, but he was equal to every occasion. His change of pace was most serviceable. He slipped in a slow ball now and then that increased the troubles of the St. Louis batamen.

Increased the troubles of the St. Louis batamen.

Dahlen never played a better game than he is playing this year, which is saying a good deal. Yesterday most of his chances were hard ones, but he was sure on every one of them, his accurate throwing from awkward positions being the best part of his work. Jack Taylor pitched a good game for St. Louis and the game was anybody's up to the seventh inning, when the New Yorks clinched it by inside work of the texture which they excel in weaving.

Devlin walked in the second inning and Gilbert sent him home with a clever two barger along the left field foul line. Dahlen made a wonderful play on Shannon in the third. There was a man on first, when Shannon sent a grounder that traversed the middle of the diamond. Dahlen ecooped up the ball back of second base. He did not have time to get the man who was forced off first base and had to hurry to get the batter. Without straightening up, he threw over Gilbert's head to McGann and killed off Shannon.

Devlin beat out a slow bounder to Burke in the seventh. Gilbert bunted a fly to Burke, Bowerman hit hard to center, Devlin reaching third. Mathewson bunted, and Burke made a good pick-up, but could not make a straight throw to Warner, so Devlin scored. Taylor threw out Donlint Browne upset Arndt with a hot single, and Bowerman and Mathewson came in on the wicked drive.

St. Louis had men on bases in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth and ninth innings, but failed to hit safely when a run would have been the consequence. The score:

The Brooklyns batted Hahn freely in the early part of yesterday's game at Washington Park and made seven runs in the first two innings. They were five runs ahead for five innings and had a lead of three runs at the end of the seventh inning. But in the eighth the Cincinatis made a determined rally and tied the score. Ewing had succeeded Hahn after the third inning, and he held the Brooklyns down to two hits for the rest of the game. The Reds were getting better all the time, while the Brooklyns had shot their bolt, and in the tenth inning the visitors squeezed in a run and went their way rejoicing. The score;

JEROME REVIEWS TROOPS. District Attorney Makes a Good Impression-Walsh Wins Championship. District Attorney William Travers Jerome was the reviewing officer of the military show in Madison Square Garden last night, and he discharged the duties as gallantly as if he had spent his life among the warriors. Attired in the conventional evening clothes and opera hat, he was escerted to the stand with military honors, and was so sharp on the click of time that part of the athletic program had to be abandoned to give way to the review. Col. Edward Duffy of the Sixty-ninth Regiment was in command, and managed the affair without the least mistake.

There was a big crowd in attendance and There was a big crowd in attendance and they enjoyed the special military numbers to their heart's content. The bulk of the ap-plause was accorded to the "Kilties, who donned their "kilts" instead of the regula-tion uniform in which they performed on Wednesday night.
Two acts—a music ride and rough riding-were performed by the Fifteenth United States Cavalry and both were well received. The Eighth United States gave a drill and Second Naval Battalion a loading and firing exhibition. In this latter item some rapid firing was announced for the Fifth Division. The Third Battery showed some fine work at stake driving and the First Signal Corps gave a display of telegraph line building and flag

The athletic program was replete with exciting contests, but the star events were the final of the 100 yards and the half mile. Besides, there were very interesting trial heats in the quarter mile run and two mile bleycle championship. The men qualified to battle for honors in the hundred were Frank and Walsh of the Twenty-second Regiment, Langan of the Fourth Regiment, New Jersey, and Robertson of the Thirteenth Artillery. Because he had equaled the military record in one of the semi-finals,

Frank was much fancied.

At the crack of the gun Walsh was the first to get moving, and he skirted around the bend a yard in the lead of Robertson and Frank, who were running even. On the straight toward the finish Frank put on all the steam he was capable of commanding, but could not quite reach Walsh, who won but could not quite reach Walsh, who won by a foot. Robertson being about the same distance behind in third place, but the time was a fifth of a second slower than the record made by Frank on Wednesday evening. The half mile championship was a cracking race. Eleven men went to the scratch for the start and for three laps F. A. Rodgers of the Twenty-second Regiment Engineers took the field along at a nice pace. Then E. Bangaser of the Seventy-fourth Regiment of Buffalo shot out, closely followed by Cohen of the Thirteenth Artillery, and thus they ran until the bell for the last lap. By a well timed sprint Cohen went by Bangaser and led to the finish, winning by about five yards.

gasser and led to the finish, winning by about five yards.

The heats of the quarter mile championship were productive of two rattling contests. In the second heat D. H. Meyer, the Buffalo crack, crawled into second place and qualified, and he should easily win the final and in record time. Harry Hillman, winner of the event last year, was entered but did not connecte.

The wall scaling created plenty of smusement. The three regiments contending were the Eighth, Twelfth and Sixty-ninth. Victory fell to the Twelfth, the Eighth being second, and the Sixty-ninth was disqualified for not going around the turning stakes. for not going around the turning stakes.
